A Deer Hunters Dream Come True...

You're in the Great Southern Outdoors, it's early morning just after first light and a smattering of frost covers the ground. A slight movement to your left catches your attention and suddenly the rustling leaves reveal a wide rack buck heading in your direction! It's not a dream, it's Great Southern Outdoors Plantation and your dream come true...

From mid-October through the end of January, from first morning light to sunset, you'll enjoy the best of Alabama black belt hunting, where every day is a Great Southern Outdoor adventure... An adventure made possible by the intense management of 6000 acres of natural habitat, all managed for the benefit of deer, turkey, hogs and many other wildlife species, not to mention the avid sportsmen and women that pursue them.

The Great Southern Outdoors Dream Continues...

Turkey, Hogs...

At Great Southern Outdoors an outdoorsman's dreams aren't limited to deer hunting alone, not by a long shot. On this 6000 acre wildlife plantation, we plant wheat and sorghum fields year round, which makes it home to countless flocks of elusive, long-beard turkeys... and, if that's not enough to test your skills, you can also try your luck at the massive wild hogs that free range on the plantation. Since 1998 we have harvested over 800 wild hogs at a time when most hunters think they have to put their bows and guns away until the next season begins. These hogs may not win awards for their looks, but they're a challenge to hunt – and our cooks can smoke some of the finest pork you've ever tasted!

Sporting Clay Course

What is Great Southern Outdoors sporting clay course? It is nothing but fun!! Sporting clay shooting is a fast growing sport, and Great Southern Outdoors has created a course that provides a shooter a 12 station round of enjoyment.

Every hunter loves to pull the trigger, but a lot of times you sit on a dove bucket waiting for a bird to fly by, or maybe in a tree climber hoping that whitetail deer will walk by. A sporting clay course provides you the opportunity to shoot 100 times at different targets when you tell your personal trapper to "pull". Every station presents a new and exciting challenge. No matter if you have never experienced a sporting clay course, or you are a member of a sporting clay trail, Great Southern Outdoors promises to provide a round of absolute fun.

Hunting History & Tradition – Great Southern Outdoors Wildlife Plantation

The history of this location is very extensive with the Bughall Plantation owned by the Pritchett family since the 1800's.

The plantation has three lodges and an activity center...

Bughall Creek Lodge, now used as our office and gift shop, was built around 1890 and restored in 1990, is located in the heart of this 6000 acre wildlife reserve. Situated on a slight knoll beneath a giant oak tree, you can watch the deer feed from the back deck and listen to the quail call from your rocking chair on the old fashion front porch.

Hunters Hideout Lodge... our newest lodge built in 2002, has 6 private rooms, each with two full size beds and a bath.

Black Creek Lodge is located in a secluded woodland site overlooking a beautiful 15 acre lake which is also an ideal place to enjoy nature on the plantation. In fact, at almost any time you can gather on the deck to watch ducks, geese and bass cruise the lake.

The Plantation Activity Center is just that, the center of all plantation activity. It houses the dining area, the kitchen, and the all important meeting and lounging areas, including the "Liar's Den," where everyone gathers to swap hunting and fishing strategies and of course talk about, "the one that got away..."because in this part of Alabama, aside from football, hunting and fishing are the main topics of conversation.
